AN ART AND SCIENCE FAIR was a closing highlight of the four week summer session held at the Ralph A. Gates Elementary School in El Toro last week. Several hundred parents and children attended the school fair which was held in the multi-purpose room of the school. Jim Mitchell was the Principal in charge of the sunimer program. Mitchell is scheduled to be Principal of the new O'Neill Elementary School in Mission Viejo this fall. Pictured above are guests of the school fair inspecting the displays produced by the children attending the summer school. Staff Photo.

School District Ready for 5,000

By Carl E. Ventrom
Editor and Publisher

The San Joaquin School District is preparing for an all time enrollment record this fall of more than 5,000 students.

A regular scheduled business meeting, open to the public, was held for 3-1/2 hours last week by the Board of Trustees of the District. Following the business meeting the board went into closed session on matters of personnel.

The agenda, for the open meeting, included approval of warrants, employment of personnel, a summer school report, a building report by Superintendent Ralph A. Gates and a report on some classroom teaching procedures to be used for the coming year was presented by William D. Stocks, assistant superintendent.

Warrant approval for slightly more than $30,000 was given. Five teachers were approved for hiring which makes a total of 82 teachers presently under contract for the coming year. There are presently three teaching vacancies to be filled for the coming year. Stocks said that contacts have already been made for filling these last three vacancies. Two of these vacancies have been caused by teacher resignations.

Gates reported that there has been more vandalism than usual. He said there has been more destruction of property than stealing. In some cases the parents have met the costs of repairing the damaged property.

The district does not want to close the school yards on weekends or summers since there is a shortage of play areas in the district. The Orange County Sheriff, reported Gates, has been cooperating with the school district on guarding the schools.

Superintendent Gates reported that he had presently received two applications to fill the board vacancy left by Capt. J. D. Smith, USN, who recently resigned because of military transfer.

Dr. John Gossom, a captain in the US Navy from the El Toro Marine Base and McKay Mitchell, engineer with the State of California Highways who lives in Leisure World, are the two that have applied.

The board decided at the meeting that the cut-off date for applications was to be Aug. 11 with interviews being held between the 11th and 16th of Aug. On Aug. 16th an appointment will be made by the board at a special, public meeting to be held at 4 p.m. in the district offices.

Gates also reported that the construction on the O'Neill School in Mission Viejo is progressing nicely and the school should open this fall on schedule. He also said that the La Paz Intermediate School will be finished by September of 1968.

Art-Science Fair Climaxes Summer School at Gates

There was a genuine interest portrayed by the several hundred parents and children that attended the Art and Science Fair at the Ralph A. Gates Elementary School last week.

The school fair, held in the multi-purpose room of the school, climaxed a four week long summer session. Jim Mitchell, principal of the summer program at Gates, said that the summer school had an average enrollment of 160 youngsters attending grades one through seven.

Mitchell said that remedial reading and mathematics was stressed in the program as well as courses in creative writing, enriched mathematics and language-arts. Stress on audio-visual aids was made throughout the summer program. One popular course for the students was the science-photography class, reported the principal.

Mitchell gave credit to the summer faculty and to Mrs. Carmen Lloyd and Ray Leverich, who were the two teachers that were co-chairmen for the summer program.

Local Youths Win UCI Scholarships

One El Toro youth and one Irvine youth were winners of scholarships to the University of California at Irvine for the year 1967-68, announced the Public Affairs Office of UCI this week.

Jeri J. Collins, of 24602 Belgreen, El Toro, won a President's Scholarship. He is a junior majoring in fine arts.

Peter D. Abrahasm, 405 Verano Place, Irvine, won a Lowell Berry Foundation Scholarship. He is a senior with a pre-medical major.

Square Dance For Community

A community square dance will be held on Sat., Aug. 19, at the parking lot of the Mount of Olives Lutheran Church located at 24772 Chrisanta Drive, Mission Viejo, announced Jerrie Aldrich, committee chairman, this week.

The dance is scheduled from 8 to 11 p.m. Cost is $2 per couple. Contact Aldrich at 837-7934 for tickets or Donna Middlestead at 837-5479. Herb Lesher is the square dance caller.

Hot dogs, coke and coffee will be available at the dance. Residents of El Toro, Laguna Hills and Mission Viejo are invited to the dance. Please buy tickets in advance, said Aldrich.

Summer School at Gates Elementary

It was a delight for this newspaper to visit the Art and Science Fair held at the Ralph A. Gates Elementary School last week. The involvement, interest and pleasure of the students, parents and guests was apparent and a pleasure to watch.

The school fair, which climaxed a four week summer program, was creative and interesting and held the interest of both the adult and youngster.

Summer school - a few years back - was a chore occupation involving mainly students who were trying to work off deficiencies. The San Joaquin School District's summer school offered work in remedial reading and mathematics but also offered creative and enriched courses which meant there were offerings for the average and superior student. This well rounded program makes school -- whether it be a summer or winter term -- an interesting place for the youngster to be.

Each year there is more and more that the child going to school must learn to be able to cope with the rapidly changing age which we live in. It is good that the school programs are changing with the times and meeting the challenge of today's world.

Option Contracts

People who put money into stocks and bonds may be classified as investors or traders. The investor being the person who buys for a long term and the trader the individual who moves in and out more rapidly. Some traders can be further classified as speculators. The term "playing the Market" is more appropos of the trader than the investor.

For either the trader or the investor, there are ways to capitalize on stock prices without actually buying the stocks. One of these methods is the use of a "put"or "call" contract.

A "call" is simply an option to buy a stock, at a given price, at any time during a specific period. Call options usually expire in 90 days, 6 months, or 6 months and 10 days. These options, or contracts, are sold by "put and call" brokers and can be obtained through any regular stock broker.

A hypothetical situation will probably best serve to illustrate the use of a "call." Assume that you think that XYZ, now selling for $25.00 per share, will double in the next six months. However, you do not want to risk $2500 to buy 100 shares. You check with your broker and find that you can buy a "call" for $300. In other words, your $300 guarantees that you can, at any time during the contract period, buy 100 shares of XYZ at $25 per share. If, at the end of 6 months, the stock has doubled, you can exercise your option and have a $50 stock with only $300 risk. Of course, if the stock drops during that time, or if, for any reason, you do not exercise the option, the $300 is gone.

A "put" option is the same as a "call" except that the contact is to sell at a given price. It can be used to protect a substantial profit on a stock that you already own. It can also serve to give you a profit in a stock that you do not own if the price drops. If the price drops, you exercise the option at the given price and "cover" by buying at the current price. The difference, less the cost of the option and commissions is your profit. If the stock doesn't drop, your loss is limited to the cost of the option.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Sir:

The old adage "To many Chiefs' - not enough Indians," does not apply to our Gates Parent Teachers Organization. It would seem many are willing to be Indians, but no one wants to be Chief.

Last March, I sent out six hundred and twenty-five notices, asking for volunteers to run for office in the Parent Teachers Organization, or the head committees. Not ONE was returned. Once again, we are asking for help.

This year, the P.T.O. will be running on a new "updated" concept. We hope it will prove successful. We will be meeting every other month instead of monthly. In most cases our meetings will be in conjunction with previously planned school activities, such as "Open House;" "Christmas Programs," etc. We will keep our business meeting as short as possible. We will have only one Fund Raising project this year... our second annual Carnival, which will be held in May.

However, because our small school is vastly over crowded we are going to assist our Teachers and Principal in every way possible. To do this, we need Mothers and Fathers who can give us a few hours a month.

If you have children in the Ralph Gates Elementary School, won't you consider joining us?

Believe me, "To many Cooks will NOT spoil our broth;" but not enough will.

Please call Connie KELLY at 837-0914 or Carol MILLER at 837-2159 and let us know you are ready to help.

Local H.S. Youth Wins at Co. Fair

By CARL E. VENSTROM

Fifteen year-old Eric Tullener, of 25672 Chrisanta Drive, Mission Viejo, is a very proud young man this week.

He has won fame, money and recognition.

It all came about last week when his steer "Roy," a 990-lb. Hereford steer won the Grand Champion of Show Market at the Orange County Fair.

The steer sold for $2.50 a pound, bringing Eric a check totaling $2,475.00. The youth also had the Champion FFA Fat Lamb, "Humphrey," a 115-lb. crossbreed that brough $1 per pound.

Eric is a member of the Future Farmers of America Chapter at Mission Viejo High School and raised the steer as a project in his agricultural class at the school. His instructor at Mission Viejo High School is Arnold Troftgruben.

Troftgruben is a veteran teacher in the Tustin Union High School District, having taught agriculture at Tustin High School for 18 years before the program was transferred to the new Mission Viejo High School last fall. He and his students have been long time winners in school, agriculture competition.

Young Eric, when asked how he felt about receiving the check, smiled and said "very good." He also pointed out that 12 other Mission Viejo High School students had steers in contests and that all received awards and ribbons.

Eric is a sophomore at the local high school and lives with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Tulleners and two brothers and three sisters at the Mission Viejo address. He said he is a mathematics major and agriculture minor.

The 19th annual Orange County Fair ended its six-day run with a record in livestock sales. Sales of livestock was up 20% above last year said Fair officials.

Norm Covington, of the Mission Viejo and Leisure World Union 76 Stations, purchased a 915 pound beef and had the local Mission Viejo butcher--Hibbard of Hibbard Meats--cut the animal up. Covington is looking forward to some good meat eating this fall and winter.

REFLECTIONS By Roshan Sharma

The Almighty Dollar

I have a dear friend who was also born in India and later migrated to America. Whenever he is asked the question, "Why did you come to the United States", his pet answer is always, "For the Almighty Dollar of course".

Throughout the world, America is considered to be the only country where the green stuff actually grows on trees and the roads are paved with gold leaves. Thanks to the technicolor American movies and the innocent Yankee tourists with billfolds bulging with green power who have spread the gospel of the Almighty dollar.

It is the lure of the Almightly dollar that attracts the attention of all foreigners. It is lore of the Almighty dollar that makes them despise America. It appears that the world of ours has only two kinds of gods; one who has the dollar and the other who is pennyless. And there is no peace between the two.

It is a pity that the true wealth of America is unknown to both Americans and the foreigners. Undisputedly it is the wealth of ideas, of far-reaching inventions, of getting old (or any) jobs done in an efficient way. It is wealth of labour, of pain, of concern and of moral consciousness.

The Almighty dollar is only one way of rewarding the Americans for their contributions to the society. The green stuff comes to the bold, to the inventive, and to the hard at work. It goes to the man who makes, who entertains, and who is an athlete.

The Almighty dollar is the most important thing in the world because it represents America. It represents health, moral strength, vitality of ideas, honor, generosity, and beauty. It is the opposite of want which represents illness, corruption, stagnation, disgrace, greed, and ugliness. If you can consider America and India in one breath, you will know what I am talking about.

It may be that the Almighty dollar can't buy me happiness but it always pays for my miseries. It is the Green Power that goads me toward privacy, independence, and the ecstasy of life.

Shopping With Jan

By Janis Venstrom

Mr. Hibbard, of Hibbard's Meats in the La Paz Plaza shopping center, Mission Viejo is now open for business. I visited with Mr. Hibbard the other day and found he is quite delighted with his new surroundings.

His sons are lending a helping hand in the butcher shop at present. Doing a professional job, I might add.

The Hibbard family has recently moved from the greater Los Angeles area into one of the La Paz homes and to quote Mr. Hibbard, "I think this area is wonderful and the people are all so friendly."

Stop in and show your friendliness, and local support, by trying some of the Hibbard's Meats specials.

Hibbard has been a butcher for some 20 years and is full of many handy hints for cooking of your favorite cuts of meat. There is a right way and wrong way to cook and prepare your meats, so ask Mr. Hibbard for a few tips on how you can get the mouth watering results you are looking for.

Do mention that Jan at the Rancho Reporter recommended Hibbard's Meats in the La Paz Plaza.

Former Naval Official To Join Santa Ana Title Co.

Former Under Secretary of the Navy Paul B. Fay, Jr., of San Francisco has been elected to the board of directors of First American Title Insurance & Trust Company of Santa Ana, according to an announcement by President D. P. Kennedy.

Fay, who held the Navy Department post from 1961 to 1965, also is noted as the author of "The Pleasure of His Company," which details his association with the late President John F. Kennedy. Known to his many friends as "Red," Fay was a member of Kennedy's PT-109 crew during World War II.

In 1946, following four years of naval service, Fay became an officer of The Fay Improvement Company of San Francisco. Upon resigning as Under Secretary of the Navy in 1965, he resumed his duties as executive vice president of the firm.
